New Vice President For College's Academic Core

GWC has a new vice president for academic affairs: Dr. A. Frank Bonner of Anderson College, Anderson, S.C., who assumed the position in June.

"Next to the selection of the president of a college, the selection of the chief academic officer has to rank second in importance. Dr. Bonner is the key administrator for that which is at the core of the college — academics," states President White.

In an interview with the Anderson Independent-Mail, Anderson College academic dean Paul Talmadge said that Bonner brought intellectual integrity and outstanding teaching and administrative skills to the Anderson faculty. Bonner was associate dean for special programs at Anderson. Prior to that he was an English instructor for nine years and had served as faculty chair.

Bonner holds degrees in English from Furman University (B.A.), the University of Georgia (M.A.), and UNC-Chapel Hill (Ph.D.). His father is Dr. Francis Bonner, longtime dean and professor of English at Furman University.

Active in civic affairs, Bonner was serving as chairman of the board of trustees for the Anderson School District 5 at the time of his G-W appointment. According to school board members, Bonner was extremely organized, thorough, and unfailingly dedicated to hearing all sides of the story concerning school issues. "People trust him," board member Susan Chapman said. "They feel they can talk to him. We're going to be missing a very valuable person on the school board."

Bonner was a member of the board of directors and former vice chairman of the Anderson Area Chamber of Commerce and had been named by the Chamber one of Anderson's most outstanding young leaders. He is past president of the Greater Anderson Rotary Club and a major in the U.S. Army Reserves. In a recent poll by the Anderson Independent-Mail, area residents named Bonner one of the top 10 leaders in Anderson.

Flossie Bonner, his wife, is a native of Chester, S.C. She is also a Furman graduate and is an eighth grade mathematics teacher. The Bonners are the parents of two daughters: Alison, 15, and Florence, 13.

"Of the many candidates for this position," says President White, "Bonner possesses that rare combination of strong leadership, impeccable academic credentials, professional experience, commitment to our Baptist heritage and an engaging personality.

"At Gardner-Webb we have a very diverse curriculum with our undergraduate, graduate and GOAL curricula. Dr. Bonner, with his broad philosophical base, can love all of them equally and embrace them as one community of learning. He also has the capacity to listen and to help us develop and move toward goals."

On the cover....

Congratulations and diplomas were awarded to 132 graduates at summer commencement ceremonies in August. Speaker for the occasion was Dr. A. Frank Bonner, G-W's new vice president for academic affairs.

With Dr. Bonner is one of the proud graduates from the Class of 1987: Lorah Beam Cabaniss of Shelby, who earned the bachelor of science degree in middle school education. Lorah, the daughter of George T. and Janice Cabaniss of Shelby, will do substitute teaching this year in preparation for entering graduate school next fall.

The role of The Web is to keep alumni and friends involved with the College and each other in a way that reflects our special sense of community. In these pages we seek to balance news from our alumni with news of what's happening on campus.

The Web is an alumni publication, and our goal is to make it informative and enjoyable. Your input, Class Notes items and story ideas are always appreciated.

Many of you have expertise and insight that would benefit us. Therefore, we would like to invite you to volunteer for consideration to serve on an alumni editorial board that will meet three times a year with The Web staff. This board will evaluate The Web and generate ideas for improving it.

If you would be willing to attend several meetings a year and take an active role in helping us make your publication more effective, write a brief letter telling us something about yourself and why you would be interested in serving on The Web's first editorial board. Address your letters: Editor, The Web, Gardner-Webb College, P.O. Box 976, Boiling Springs, NC 28017. Deadline: November 9, 1987.

Let us hear from you soon.

Dr. Charles S. Andrews was the first recipient of the Fleming-White Excellence in Teaching Award established by President and Mrs. White to honor their parents. See story on page 5.

A few lessons about things we often take for granted

By: Bill Workman
Editor Emeritus, The Daily Independent, Kannapolis, N.C.

Guest of honor Mrs. Marguerite Noel (left) of Kannapolis and Sharon Jennings, director of G-W's Program for the Handicapped, celebrate the dedication of the Noel House. Mrs. Noel funded the renovation of this facility to house the Program.

I'M GLAD I attended the dedication of Gardner-Webb College's Noel House early this month. I picked up a few lessons to pass on to the fourth- and sixth-graders I work with as a school volunteer.

Lucy and I went with a dozen or so others, mostly from the First Baptist Church, to share this celebration with Marguerite and Marylene Noel. The Noels have endowed the conversion of this former home of the college minister into a study center for deaf and blind students and its maintenance for many years to come.

The dedication was even better than Marguerite had said it would be. She had warned that we wouldn't have time for lunch but assured us the refreshments would keep us from starving; the "refreshments" turned out to be a feast. She had promised that we would hear Gardner-Webb's new president, Chris White, play the piano; Dr. White teamed up with Doug Armstrong, a blind master of the saxophone, and played several tunes that started all toes tapping. She had said we would enjoy seeing deaf students sing hymns, love songs and patriotic songs with their fingers and arms and facial expressions, and we did.

Before and after the feast, the music and the dedication of the Noel House, we Towel Citians and other visitors saw blind and deaf students at work in the recently-opened center. They demonstrated machines that do work that ears normally do and quickly turn thoughts into printed words. Students who can't see read with the tips of their fingers, listened to tapes that deal with all their academic courses, and made notes in braille.

The blind and deaf students attend classes with others who can see and hear and talk. They are assisted in note-taking by peer readers and tutors. They do their homework and research in the Noel House or in the John M. Dover Library across the street.

Gardner-Webb is pioneering in higher education for those who are visually impaired or can't hear and speak. Mrs. Noel has had a hand in developing these programs — and funding them. As in everything else she takes a liking to, she gives them her best effort.

It was inspiring watching these students, who have never had the benefit of some senses most of us take for granted, at work and play. They obviously were happily committed to doing the digging required by a college which strives for excellence. I noticed, too, that the friendliness and the determination these students displayed have rubbed off on the others who have full use of all the senses.

I brought back materials I picked up at the Noel House to show my kids at school while telling about students reading with their fingers and singing with their hands and arms, smiles and sparkling eyes.

I told one group sitting around the table in my little world:

"You can spot a paperclip on the floor 30 feet away, but you don't see the flowers or the birds — or the words on a page; you hear every dirty little rumor flying through the school but you don't hear half of what your teacher says; you jabber all the time but you don't recognize the beauty of words to lift a friend up or the power of words to tear a friend down. You don't know how fortunate you are — and unfortunate."

OF INTEREST TO ALUMNI

...from Deborah Hancock
Alumni Director

- PHONATHON — In fifteen evening sessions held February 19 - March 26, 60 students called G-W alumni to ask for support of the 1986-87 Annual College Fund. Pledges made during the phonathon totalled $19,175. We would like to extend our most heartfelt thanks to you for your positive response to our appeal. The funds will be used for scholarships, work-study programs, library support and daily operating expenses. Your help will significantly enhance the quality of education for G-W students.
- NEW ALUMNI — On August 7, graduating seniors were formally inducted into the GWC Alumni Association. Bob Decker Jr. ('75) spoke to the group about the role of alumni. The induction pledge was administered by Alumni Board of Directors president Bob Pettyjohn ('51), and Dr. Wayne Wike ('75) delivered the benediction. President White delivered a brief address to the summer graduates.
- HOMECOMING 1987 — Who Says, "You Can't Go Home Again?" Homecoming is scheduled for October 10. The classes having reunions this year include: 1937, 1942, 1947, 1952, 1957, 1962, 1967, 1972, 1977, 1982, 1986 and 1987. The Alumni Awards Banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Charles I. Dover Campus Center. Please see the ad on this page for the other Homecoming events you won't want to miss. "You can come home again!"
- ADOPT-A-STUDENT — The Board of Directors of the GWC Alumni Association is sponsoring an Adopt-A-Student program and needs your help. This project will not involve financial assistance to the adopted student. Rather, the alumnus will make plans from time to time to attend ballgames, have dinner or engage in other fun activities with current students in an effort to show students we care. If you are interested in adopting a student for this academic year, contact the Alumni Office.

ACCOLADES & a silver tray:

John Drayer — for his five years of service as Vice President for Academic Affairs

SPECIAL ACCOLADES & The First
Fleming-White Award for Excellence in Teaching: Dr. Charles S. Andrews -

"Dr. Andrews represents all that is fine in true devotion to teaching, to liberal arts, to students and to Gardner-Webb College. Although Dr. Andrews could easily choose to devote himself to other interests, his pleasure in seeing the impact of education and its accompanying confidence and sophistication on his students is obviously a sustaining force in his life, a source of great energy and professional happiness.

*A student in my class once said, 'Dr.
Andrews takes a required course that everybody just wants to get through and makes it fun. He makes you want to learn.' Another student said, 'He praises me so much when I do my best that I just can't disappoint him.' He takes the quiet, shy student and finds occasion for her to speak frequently in class. . .*

push each student to his or her maximum ability. He makes each student satisfied at achieving his or her own maximum level and dissatisfied with anything less. His students can't disappoint him; they can't disappoint themselves. His is a quiet, independent dedication, not ostentatious, just true."*

. . . Quotation is taken from the letter of recommendation.

Accolades And Professor Emerita Status Were Bestowed On Two Professors

Dr. Bettye McClure Carpenter

A native of Cleveland County, Dr. Bettye McClure Carpenter joined the G-W faculty in 1965, retiring in 1986 as associate professor of psychology. A well-known conference participant, she has conducted numerous professional seminars across the South.

Prior to joining GWC, Carpenter was associated for nine years, 1956-65, with the Shelby City Schools, where she established the special education program. She has served as president of the International Council for Exceptional Children and the N. C. Special Class Teachers.

A certified school psychologist, Carpenter has clinical competency in speech and language pathology. From 1973-77 she served as a psychological consultant for the Rutherford County Mental Health Clinic.

She began her academic career as a first grade teacher in Lincolnton after earning an A.A. degree from GWC and the A.B. degree from Meredith College. She holds the M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Ed.D. degree from Nova University. She has completed additional studies at Appalachian State University, N.C. State University, Western Carolina University and City University of New York.

A former Sunday School teacher, Carpenter is a member of Boiling Springs Baptist Church. She has served as member and president of Delta Kappa Gamma teaching sorority and as vice president of the G-W Woman's Club.

The following publications have cited her accomplishments: Personalities of the South, Community Leaders and Noteworthy Americans, the World Who's Who of Women, Who's Who in Child Development, the International Who's Who in Intellectuals, and Who's Who in the South and Southwest.

Carpenter has two sons, Wallace R. Carpenter Jr. and Alan McClure Carpenter, and three grandchildren, all of Rutherfordton.

Mrs. Abbie Miller Mitchell

Mrs. Abbie Miller Mitchell joined the faculty in 1937. Fifty years later the College has honored her by naming her professor emerita of music.

Mrs. Mitchell, a native and current resident of Owensboro, Kentucky, had been a private piano teacher in Owensboro for nine years before going to North Carolina and GWC in 1937. For 27 years she taught music at the College, later chairing the music department.

Following her marriage in 1963 to the late Clyde Mitchell, also of Owensboro, she left G-W and with her husband spent a year in Texas.

Upon her return to Owensboro, she taught piano students at Kentucky Wesleyan College for 10 years. She served as organist at several churches, retiring last year as organist of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Owensboro.

In 1965 she reopened her piano studio, where she continues to teach private piano students. Next year Mrs. Mitchell will begin the sixtieth year of her career in music.

Still active in the profession, Mrs. Mitchell says, "I have been and am a member of the Saturday Musicales at Owensboro. I am the oldest performing member."

The status of professor emerita is not the first distinction the College has bestowed on Mrs. Mitchell. In 1964 she received a Citizen Citation from the College in recognition of her outstanding achievement and service in the field of higher education.

Mrs. Mitchell earned bachelor of music and master of music degrees from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and the bachelor of arts from Kentucky Wesleyan College. Upon receiving her master's degree, she was elected to membership in Pi Kappa Lambda, an honorary society of musicians. Later she was elected to Delta Kappa Gamma, Society International, an honorary society of women teachers.

She was an active member of the Cecilia Music Club of Shelby while on the faculty and is a member of the D.A.R.

Accolades And Special Tribute To Three Professors Who Are Retiring

Three profs retire: (l to r) P.A. Cline Jr., Thirlen Osborne and Garland Allen. Courtesy Shelby Star

Garland Allen — Professor of religion and history after 26 years. Dr. Allen will continue to coach the golf team.

Allen holds a bachelor's degree from Ouachita University, the B.D., Th.M. and Th.D. degrees from The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and an M.A. from Memphis State University.

A native of Tuckerman, Ark., Allen is married to the former Mary Evelyn Garrison of Lincolnton, and they are the parents of two children: Susan A. Philbeck and William Henry Allen.

Allen is a member of the Boiling Springs Baptist Church, Boiling Springs Lions Club, the American Society of Church History, the Association of Baptist Professors of Religion and the Cleveland County Historical Association.

P.A. Cline Jr. — Professor of classical languages after 21 years. Mr. Cline and wife Georgia hope to visit Thailand, where they served as foreign missionaries.

A native of Gastonia, Cline holds the B.A. degree from Wake Forest University, the M.A. from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill and the M. Div. from The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has done additional study at Duke University.

In World War II, Cline served with the U.S. Army in Germany.

Cline is a member of Boiling Springs Baptist Church, the Boiling Springs Lions Club and the Senior Games Committee of Cleveland County. In 1977 he was named to Who's Who in the South and Personalities of the South. He has also served numerous churches as interim pastor.

The Clines are the parents of four children: Malcolm, Susan C. Balentine, Timothy and Robert.

Thirlen Osborne — Professor of English after 30 years. Mr. Osborne, who was the editor of Reflections, the College's literary magazine, anticipates catching up on his poetry reading, scholarly writing and antique clock restorations.

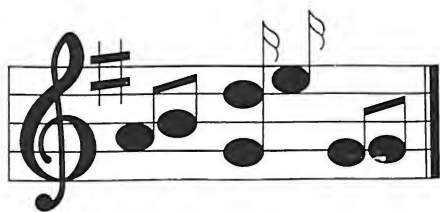

A native of Winchester, Ky., Osborne holds the bachelor's degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College and the master's degree from the University of Kentucky. He has done additional graduate study at the University of North Carolina and the University of Kentucky.

Osborne is a member of Boiling Springs Baptist Church, the South Atlantic Modern Languages Association and the Association of Baptist Professors of English. For 10 years he taught in the public schools of Kentucky, Indiana and Texas.

Osborne is married to the former Sophie Lee Goolman of Winchester, Ky.

Freeman To Recruit More Baptist Students

Charles W. "Buddy" Freeman ('62) has joined the admissions office in a newly created capacity: Director of Admissions for Church Relations. In this new venture for G-W, Freeman will work exclusively with Baptist churches, both in the state and across the country, in the recruitment of students.

Over 60 percent of G-W's current students are N.C. Baptists, a measure of the confidence the denomination places in the College. "Freeman's appointment reflects the College's commitment to its denominational heritage and the education of Baptist young people," states President White.

A native of Kings Mountain, Freeman comes to GWC from the pastorate of First Baptist Church, Marshall. He is a popular speaker and guest lecturer at numerous Baptist conferences. From 1968-79, he served as G-W's campus minister.

Freeman is a past member of the general board of the N.C. Baptist State Convention and past chairman of the executive committee of the French Broad Baptist Association.

At its February meeting, the board of trustees voted to award the status of trustees emeriti to three individuals with lifelong ties to the College: Mrs. Mae Cline Stroup, Mr. Charles I. Dover and Mr. R. Patrick Spangler. These three former trustees were the first trustees to receive this honor in G-W's 82-year history.

Each of the trustees emeriti served as chairman of the board and received the College's highest academic recognition, the honorary doctorate. Numerous campus buildings and scholarships bear their names.

Mr. R. Patrick Spangler — On June 11, several weeks after he attended a campus luncheon honoring the trustees emeriti, Mr. Spangler died after a long bout with diabetes. Spangler had served as president of several Shelby businesses, Spangler's Ready Mix Concrete, Shelby Sand and Stone and Concrete Investments; and as treasurer of Spangler and Sons.

He was first elected to G-W's board of trustees in 1966, serving until 1979. Mr. Spangler led two major capital campaigns that raised over $5 million for GWC, and in 1965 he became the second person in the nation to be awarded the Marts and Lundy Medal for philanthropy. A donation by Spangler and his brother, Earl Webb "Bud" Spangler, resulted in the building of Spangler Memorial Stadium.

Mrs. Mae Cline Stroup — Mrs. Stroup, co-founder and president of the Eagle Stores Company chain from 1930-36, was first elected to G-W's board of trustees in 1933. She served continuous terms until her retirement in 1978, serving trusteeships at Mars Hill College and Wake Forest University as well. In 1962 she became the first woman elected chairman of G-W's board of trustees.

Recently, Mrs. Stroup provided funds for the remodeling of Stroup Dormitory, a girls dormitory named in her honor and in memory of her late husband, Rush Stroup.

Mrs. Stroup, 95, lives in Shelby with her niece, Louise Stroup.

Mr. Charles I. Dover — Mr. Dover, former president of the Dover Textile group and current chairman of the Dover Foundation, was elected a G-W trustee in 1951, trustee chairman in 1952 and served 16 years as a trustee.

The Dover family and the Dover Foundation have provided for the construction of numerous campus structures, among them the Charles I. Dover Campus Center, the J. R. Dover Jr. Memorial Chapel, the John R. Dover Memorial Library, the Kathleen Nolan Dover Theatre and the Kathleen Nolan Dover Gardens.

Mr. Dover, his family and the Dover Foundation have contributed over a half million dollars to the College's current $5.95 million capital campaign.

Spring In The Web

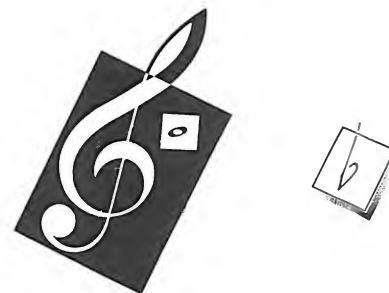

John E. Roberts ('49) gave the commencement address in May. He was awarded the honorary doctor of humanities degree; 332 graduates were awarded baccalaureate and master's degrees.

JOHN ELGIN ROBERTS

- Whereas John Elgin Roberts is an alumnus and former member of the faculty and administrative staff of Gardner-Webb College, and
- Whereas his leadership and dedication to excellence have brought honor and recognition to the named institution, and
- Whereas he has faithfully proclaimed the message of Jesus Christ and the news of His people as editor and general manager of both Charity and Children and the Baptist Courier, and
- Whereas Mr. Roberts' insight and abilities have afforded him the appointment to such important offices as President of the South Carolina Baptist Convention, Chairman of the Board of the Southern Baptist Convention Radio and Television Commission, and President of the Southern Baptist Press and Public Relations Associations, and
- Whereas the outstanding success of his leadership and years of service in the field of denominational journalism has earned him the informal title, "Dean of Southern Baptist Editors," and
- Whereas his unselfish service to his country as Sergeant in Intelligence in the United States Army merited him six medals and commendations, and
- Whereas he has served his Alma Mater in an exemplary fashion, holding memberships in such organizations as the Ministerial Board of Associates, the Board of Advisors, the Board of Directors of the Parents' Association, and serving as President of the Alumni Association, and
- Whereas he has been awarded numerous distinguished citations by the faculty and fellow alumni, and
- Whereas he has remained humble and approachable, meriting the admiration of countless people, despite his many accomplishments and recognitions,

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED:

1. that the Trustees, Alumni, Faculty, Administration, and Students of Gardner-Webb College, on this 16th day of May, 1987, express their most sincere appreciation to John E. Roberts, and
2. that it be recorded in the official records of Gardner-Webb College that he, in recognition of his outstanding qualifications, be awarded the Honorary Doctor of Humanities degree on this Commencement Day with all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities pertaining thereto.

A Partnership In Radio Ministry: A Local Church And GWC

By: Dr. Garland A. Hendricks, Director of the B.E. Morris Academy

It was a winning combination from the beginning. The first Saturday in June of 1983, Double Springs Baptist Church began sponsoring a weekly radio broadcast designed to help Sunday School teachers prepare the lesson for the following Sunday morning. The church appropriated money in its budget for the broadcasts.

The B. E. Morris Academy for Christian Studies of GWC agreed to co-sponsor the broadcasts and to solicit the cooperation of radio stations in the surrounding territory. GWC radio station WGWG agreed to produce the tapes for each broadcast and send them to participating stations.

A distinguished Bible scholar, Dr. Richard Wilson, professor of religion, consented to serve as commentator. For four years he has interpreted the Bible passage designated in the International Sunday School Lesson Series, which is used all over the world.

Dr. A. V. Washburn, a Cleveland County native who grew up and was trained in Sunday School work in the Double Springs Baptist Church during the 37-year pastorate of the late Dr. John Suttle, allowed the weekly broadcast to bear his name. So the broadcast is known as the A. V. Washburn School Lesson Program. Prior to his retirement, Dr. Washburn directed the Sunday School Department of the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, America's largest protestant religious denomination. Washburn was recognized internationally as a leader in Sunday School development and programming.

Now this joint radio ministry of Double Springs Baptist Church and GWC is in its fifth year. Since June 1, 1983, Professor Wilson has interpreted more than two hundred passages of scripture, portraying the teachings of the Bible in the easy-to-understand language of the people.

Three area radio stations broadcast the program: WGWG of Boiling Springs, WOHS of Shelby, and WUIV of Icard, carrying this unusual joint radio ministry to Sunday School teachers in North and South Carolina. The broadcast reaches listeners in Asheville to the west, Statesville to the north, Charlotte to the east and Greenville, S.C., to the south.

There are four broadcasts of this fifteen minute program each week:

WOHS-AM	Shelby.....	7:45 a.m. Sunday
WUIV-AM	Icard.....	11:00 a.m. Saturday
WGWG-FM	GWC.....	12:15 p.m. Saturday
		10:45 a.m. Sunday

Participants at the Conference on Christianity & Literature held April 4 at GWC included Thirlen Osborne (l) and Dr. James Taylor (r), professors of English. Dr. Richard Wilson, G-W assistant professor of religion, addressed the conference using the subject, "Literature As a Means of Exploration of One's Own Faith."

Gifts In The Web

Donors have created several new scholarships and designated them for specific areas of student need at GWC:

late starters

The Charles and Ottie Arrington Scholarship will be awarded to Christian students who are ineligible for other scholarships because they are "late starters." The scholarship honors the late Charles Arrington, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Clemson, S.C., and his wife, Ottie, retired English professor at Clemson University and foreign missions volunteer.

The fund was initiated by Dr. I. Glenn and Nancy Bottoms of Boiling Springs. Dr. Bottoms is associate professor of economics at G-W, and Mrs. Bottoms is a homemaker. Rev. Arrington married the Bottoms and had been their pastor.

Because the donors feel that helping others is a part of growth, recipients will be expected to assist someone else who is working toward a college education.

business majors

The Belk/Ellis Endowed Scholarship will be awarded to worthy business students from Cleveland and Rutherford counties with potential to become business leaders as evidenced by their intent to pursue a business career for at least five years after graduation. This scholarship is made possible by gifts to the capital campaign from the W.P. Ellis family of Shelby and the Belk Foundation.

"G-W graduates are a tremendous resource for area businesses and an important part of our job force. This grant is our way of saying thanks to the college for its outstanding contributions," says David Ellis, executive vice president of the Shelby and Forest City Belk stores. His father, W. P. Ellis, is the retired executive vice president of the two stores.

The Clyde L. Stutts Scholarship pays tribute to one of Shelby's outstanding business leaders and will help educate Christian business leaders to follow in his footsteps.

Mrs. Stutts established the scholarship in memory of her husband, Clyde L. Stutts, former Shelby banker and president of the N.C. Bankers Association. He had served on G-W's board of advisors.

Cleveland Memorial Hospital has established a scholarship/loan fund for nursing students who agree to work at the hospital upon graduation. The hospital will give the College $20,000 each year to be distributed to nursing students, up to $2,000 per student, with preference being given to students from Cleveland, Rutherford, Burke, Lincoln and Gaston counties.

For each year the student receives scholarship aid, that student will be obligated to work at Cleveland Memorial Hospital or else the aid reverts to a loan. A primary purpose of the fund is to increase the number of nurses at the hospital.

Concerned that citizens might have to seek their nursing education outside the county, the Cleveland County Medical Society has endowed a loan fund to provide assistance to nursing students from the county. The fund was initiated by Shelby physician Dr. Numa Carter, Medical Society president.

Among the qualifications is the applicant's commitment to serve as a nurse in Cleveland County upon graduation.

GOLF

The Paris Leland and Donnis Gold Yelton Golf Scholarship is G-W's first endowed scholarship of a non-revenue producing sport. The late Paris Yelton of Shelby had initially started the scholarship with a $10,000 gift. After his death, Mrs. Yelton and her sons, Bob and Don Yelton, added to the funds to make a total gift of $50,000 to endow the golf scholarship.

The family chose to endow a golf scholarship because of Mr. Yelton's love for both athletics and education and the family's involvement with golf. Mrs. Yelton ('24) is a former G-W trustee. Her husband chaired a successful capital campaign for the College in the 1950s and was awarded a Citizens Citation by the College for his service.

Cleveland County Campaign Nears Its Goal

“The Future: Building on a Solid Foundation”

Courtesy Shelby Star

With campaign leader Rev. Carl Greene ('33) of Mooresboro looking on, assistant football coach David Dowd tallies the Cleveland County contributions through June.

Since the kickoff in March of the College's $5.95 million campaign, over $2.4 million in pledges and contributions has been raised in Cleveland County. The goal for Cleveland County is $2.6 million.

The largest gift to date, $540,100, was received from the Dover Foundation and the Dover family. Individual contributors include Charles I. Dover; Hoyt Q. and Anne Dover Bailey; Dorothy Dover Dykers; and Harvey and Kathleen Dover Hamrick.

This generous gift will go toward revitalizing the Charles I. Dover Campus Center. The drawing plans should be completed this fall, and renovations could begin late next spring and continue through summer. A new roof will be installed on the CID this fall.

Paul Broyhill of Lenoir, a retired chairman of Broyhill Industries, has made gifts totaling $250,000 for the Broyhill School of Management, the College's school of business, and the Broyhill Academy for the Study of Independent Concepts.

A bequest of $218,000 from the estate of Clyde B. and Kathryn B. Little of Gastonia will be used to endow a scholarship for students studying for full-time Christian service.

The Lutz Foundation of Shelby has made a gift of $100,000 to the campaign. The Lutz family has had a hand in virtually every major project at GWC in recent years, including the construction of the Lutz-Yelton Convocation Center.

A gift of $100,000 from the Belk Foundation, Belk Stevens Co. of Shelby, Belk Department Store of Forest City and the W.P. Ellis family of Shelby will be used to establish a scholarship and a computer center. The Belk-Ellis Endowed Scholarship will be awarded to business students from Cleveland and Rutherford counties.

The state of the art Belk-Ellis Computer Center will be located on the main floor of the library and will house the IBM System 34, 21 IBM PCs and related hardware and software.

The Duke Power Foundation has contributed $45,000 in undesignated funds through the campaign.

An anonymous grant of $26,000 to the Davis School of Nursing will enable that program to expand its teaching labs, computer lab and audio visual room.

The Christian Service Organization has received a $25,000 challenge gift from an anonymous donor, who will contribute $25,000 in scholarship funds to the organization if it raises $75,000 in matching funds.

First National Bank of Shelby has made a contribution to the campaign of $20,000 in undesignated monies.

The Shelby Lions Club has given equipment valued at over $1,000 to the Program for the Blind. The two Perkins brailers and two four-track tape recorders will enable blind students to tape and type class notes.

Gardner-Webb's trustees, faculty and staff have made generous and significant commitments to the campaign. From the trustees $149,633 in pledges and gifts have been received, and from the faculty and staff, $64,500.

Overall, GWC has received more contributions and pledges in the past year than during any other single year in its history. In June the board of trustees approved $350,000 of the capital campaign proceeds to be used for improvements in the men's dorms.

With the near completion of the Phase I campaign in Cleveland County, the focus of the campaign will move to other areas, principally Statesville, Gastonia, Forest City and Rutherfordton. The campaign is being directed by M. Henry Garrity, G-W vice president for college relations, and Lloyd C. Bost, national campaign chairman.

FOOTBALL PREVIEW

Coming off back-to-back winning seasons, Woody Fish and the G-W Bulldogs appear to be in a position to challenge the upper echelon of the SAC-8. The Bulldogs return 10 starters on offense, eight on defense, and all their specialists for the '87 season.

G-W's emergence as a contender in the SAC-8 can be directly attributed to the installation of the veer offense two years ago. Last season the Bulldogs set 19 offensive records, including touchdowns scored, rushing touchdowns scored and points scored.

Quarterback Jesse James returns to lead the offense after having 1527 yards total offense last season. Chris Poston, Honorable Mention All-American last year, Jimbo Early (633 yards rushing, 11 touchdowns) and Darrell Middleton (601 yards, 7 touchdowns) return to combine for a strong running game.

The offensive line should once again be improved. Brian Wood (6-1, 260) will return at center after missing much of last year with a shoulder injury. Thurman Leach (6-0, 260) and Mark Muller (6-7, 290) will be at the guard positions, and Jim Chappell (6-6, 290) and Mike Lindsay (6-6, 295) will be at the tackles. Leach was on the first team All-SAC-8 and All-District 26 squads a year ago, while Chappell was on both second teams.

Kelvin Richardson (30 catches, 503 yards) and Frank Cunningham (20, 278) give G-W two quality receivers. Richardson was on the All-SAC-8 and All-District 26 second teams last year.

The defense will be lead by defensive back Eric Brewton, who was an Honorable Mention All-American last season after making first team All-American in 1985.

Other returning starters on defense are linebackers Kevan Sawyer (109 tackles) and Warren Choice (65 tackles); wings Terry Lewis (29 tackles) and Thomas Mack (63 tackles); and defensive backs Robert Hill (40 tackles, 6 interceptions) and Barry McCabe (47 tackles, 3 interceptions).

Newcomers Lennie Rivera (6-3, 290) and Jim Steele (6-0, 260) should help significantly on the defensive front. Rivera started at South Carolina before transferring, and Steele was a first team JUCO All-American at Montgomery Junior College in Maryland.

Sophomore Jeff Parker, who set virtually every school place kicking record last season while making first team All-SAC and second team All-District 26, will again handle the kicking chores. Jesse James averaged 37.6 yards per punt last year and will again do the punting this season.

FOOTBALL: Fish Looks To Season Without Teddy Eaves

A coach and player usually stay together three, maybe four, years. However, in the case of G-W head football coach Woody Fish and defensive back Teddy Eaves, this player-coach relationship has lasted seven years.

Eaves first played for Coach Fish in 1980 as a high school sophomore at Bessemer City High School. Fish had just been named the head football coach at Bessemer City, a school that had not been blessed with outstanding football teams.

Their first year together was an indication of things to come. Fish's first Bessemer City team finished with a 4-6 record, the school's best in sixteen years. The next two years would produce a steady improvement and culminate in Bessemer City's first playoff appearance in over 20 years.

Eaves was one of the key players on that team, starting on offense and defense. Fish states that "Teddy Eaves was very instrumental in the turnaround of the Bessemer City program. In fact, he may have been the most instrumental."

After graduating from high school, Eaves chose to come to GWC as a walk-on (he would later earn a scholarship), even though he had a scholarship offer from Elon. The reason was simple: Woody Fish had been named defensive coordinator for the Bulldogs.

In 1984, Fish was named head coach of the Bulldogs. Again Eaves was an instrumental player, starting at defensive back and making 56 tackles and intercepting 3 passes. The Bulldogs finished with a 4-6 record. Teddy was described by his coach as a "hard-nosed, hard working football player." These words were characteristic of his entire career.

In 1985, Eaves lost his starting position. "Teddy was beaten out after starting the year before, but it didn't change his attitude," stated Fish. "His teammates respected his attitude so much that they voted him a captain, even though he didn't start."

"As a coach you never like to have a favorite player, but I'll admit that Teddy was one of mine," Fish continued. "He's probably as fine a person as I've ever coached."

During his four-year career at G-W, Eaves made 83 tackles and intercepted 4 passes. However, his greatest contribution to the team was as a leader — a leader who worked hard regardless of the circumstances, and a team player in the truest sense.

Teddy Eaves ('86)

BASKETBALL PREVIEW

The 1987-88 Runnin' Bulldogs look to be much improved over last season. The experience gained by the seven freshmen and three sophomores on the 1986-87 team and the return of District 26 "Player of the Year" Stan Easterling will provide a solid hub around which veteran coach Jim Wiles can build the team. Easterling averaged 18.3 points and 8.7 rebounds per contest as a sophomore to lead the team! He currently ranks 11th on the all-time scoring list and 16th on the all-time rebounding list after only two seasons at G-W. The 6'8", 225-pound junior should be a strong contender for All-American honors.

The Bulldogs return three other players who played major roles last season as starters. Charlotte native Brad Smith (6'3") returns to his wing position after a fine junior season when he averaged 11.5 points and tied for the team lead in assists and steals. Also returning in the backcourt will be 6'sophomore Darren Sanders, who came on strong in February to earn the starting point guard spot. Anthony Hailey (6'5") returns to the power forward position after averaging 9.5 points and 6 rebounds and leading the team in blocked shots last season.

Several other returning players should compete for starting berths and playing time in the fall: Reggie Ampley (6'1"), Bill Fath (6'7"), Thomas Plaster (6'7½"), Steve Conley (6'7"), Chad Gough (6'4"), Daryl Floyd (6'), and Orlando Early (6'2"). Barry Mayo (6'2") could be a major factor and possibly a starter if he can regain his eligibility.

The Bulldogs have signed two new players for the '87-88 season. Donald Simmons (6'3") will add punch to the attack at the wing position after transferring from Columbia Junior College where he averaged 19.8 points. The other Bulldog signee is a 6'4" swingman from Lexington, Jerry Sadler. Sadler is an outstanding student-athlete who will add athletic ability and court smarts at any of the three perimeter positions.

The Bulldogs figure to improve during the 1987-88 season as the team's experience grows. There were nine newcomers on last year's squad and 10 players that were sophomores or freshmen. The new players should contribute quickness and scoring ability. A tough schedule awaits the Bulldogs as they try to regain G-W's place among the elite of District 26 and the NAIA.

BASKETBALL: Smith A Model Student Athlete

During recent years much attention has been given to the relationship between academics and athletics, much of it negative attention. Many student athletes do excel in both areas. One such person at GWC is Brad Smith, starting guard for the Runnin' Bulldogs basketball team.

In 1986-87, Smith was the team's second leading scorer (11.5 points per game), tied for the team lead in assists (89), and led the team in steals (49). Always the aggressor on court, Brad finds a way to make the most of his abilities.

As a student, Brad pushes himself to reach the same heights that he does on the basketball floor. His goal is to make the 1987-88 NAIA Academic All-American team. Brad achieved a perfect 4.0 (straight A's) during both semesters last year. He will graduate in May 1988 with a business degree.

The pride that he holds for the basketball program and, more importantly, for his academic work makes Brad the type person that G-W is proud to have as a student athlete.

BASEBALL: Welcome, Coach Ferree

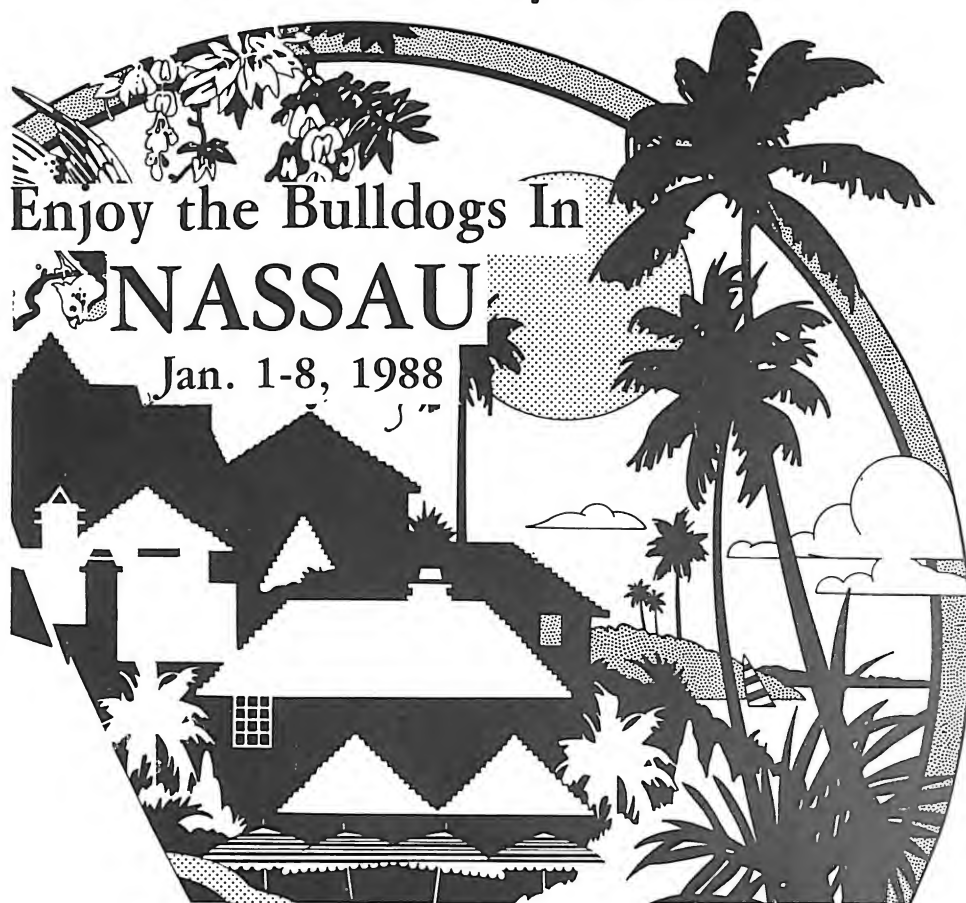

Athletic director Hank Garrity announces that Brian Ferree has joined the staff as head baseball coach, assistant Bulldog Club director and radio announcer for football and basketball.

Ferree comes to G-W with outstanding credentials. He was head baseball coach at Chapel Hill High School in 1985 and at Ahoskie High School last season. Prior to that, he was an assistant coach on the UNC jayvee team in 1984.

Ferree graduated from UNC in 1985 with his B.A. in radio, television and motion pictures. At UNC he participated in the Bluebonnet and Gator Bowls as a member of the football team. He later received his teaching certificate in social studies from GWC.

A native of Shelby, Ferree replaces Ozzie McFarland, who has been named G-W Sports Information Director. In 1984, McFarland guided the Bulldogs to their first playoff appearance since 1976.

VOLLEYBALL: Returnees & New Recruits Begin Season

TENNIS: Courts Named For Suttles

A plaque recently erected on the site of the tennis courts reads: "These courts honor the lives of Sara and J. L. Suttle, Jr. They reflect the philanthropy and continued concern that the family has for the physical fitness of the youth of the area."

President White read the above inscription at a brief dedicatory ceremony of the J.L. Suttle Jr. Tennis Courts in July. In his remarks, White paid tribute to the Suttles for their contributions and service to the College's tennis program.

J. L. Suttle has been the major sustaining force behind the tennis program since its inception at GWC. His contributions helped build the tennis courts and recently have helped refurbish them.

SOCCER: New Sport Launched At G-W

While the grounds crew is building the soccer field, Coach Tim Davis has been recruiting players for his team. Recruited for the program are Per Albertsson of Stockholm, Sweden; Efrin Tirado of Columbia, S.C.; and Jason Barnes of Rock Hill, S.C.

Albertsson, who has signed a grant-in-aid for both tennis and soccer, has eight years of experience in both sports in Swedish national programs. He has also recorded excellent times in cross-country events and may participate in that sport as well.

Tirado is a midfielder. Barnes attended Northwestern High School, where he played forward, fullback and halfback in leading his team to a 10-4-2 record in 1986.

Soccer was added to G-W's athletic program last spring.

Second year coach Dr. Dee Hunt and the women's volleyball team enter the coming season with optimism after last season's 13-20 record, the best in the school's history. "Our program is still in the growing stages, but we enter the new season with a feeling of success and accomplishment," says Hunt.

Hunt has three key returnees who should provide leadership and improved play. Senior hitter and blocker Donna Hendrix has proven her ability in key playing situations. Senior setter Lisa Tucker has outstanding knowledge of the game and intense drive. Junior outside hitter Kim Haywood has displayed excellent jumping ability.

Lara Sellers, Jenny Riddle, Rhonda Edwards, Shawn Medlin and Susan Moore are much improved players who saw significant playing time last season and should contribute to the team.

Hunt's first recruiting class shapes up with three quality recruits. Karen Kidd, a setter from Dobson, should provide skilled playing time in her initial season. Sophomore transfer Tanya Taylor is an outstanding middle blocker. Buffy Phillips from Spruce Pine is an all-around athlete expected to develop into a defensive specialist. The new recruits are expected to add depth and specific skills.

Donna Robertson, who played on the women's basketball, softball and volleyball teams last season, will serve as a graduate assistant coach.

DEATHS

Mrs. Alda May Sparks Blanton ('20) passed away in December of 1986.

Dr. Ralph Marion Lee, Dean Emeritus of Mars Hill College, died in February 1987. He taught at Boiling Springs High School in the early 1920s.

M. A. Moseley Jr., retired professor of chemistry at GWC, died May 27, 1987, after a lengthy illness.

R. Patrick Spangler, trustee emeritus of the College, died June 11, 1987.

CLASS OF 1987

Donna Lee Hanks and Bruce Alan Brown ('85) were married December 1986. Bruce is presently attending Southeastern Theological Seminary and working toward a master of divinity degree. He is also employed by Bill Murray's of Raleigh. The couple makes their home in Wake Forest.

Jeffrey Dean Watts and Angela Sue Bennett were married in December 1986. Jeff is personnel director at Hickory Memorial Hospital. The couple makes their home in Hickory.

Benjamin Ron McKee was married in Shelby recently to Willa Jamie Petty. He is self-employed with Mack's Livermush.

Mitzi McGraw married Barry Scott Johnson ('84) in Dover Chapel in May. They will live in Atlantic Beach, where he is stationed with the United States Coast Guard.

Jayne Arrowood and husband Jeff live in Forest City with their son, Jonathan Colby, born December 1985.

Adam D. Higgins is working at North Carolina Baptist Hospital as a Reimbursement Specialist. He lives with his parents in Winston-Salem.

Michael Allan Davis was recently married to Bari Arnette Culbreth, a graduate of Western Carolina University. Michael and his wife will move to Texas, where he will enter Southwestern Seminary.

Ronald Grey Wicker (M.A.), an elementary physical education instructor in Lee County, and his wife, Deborah, have three children: Dawn Lynn, 15; Crystal Renee, 13; and Matthew Earl, 5.

Lisa Darlene Mathis is presently employed as minister of youth at Southern Baptist Church in Rutherfordton. She will be attending Southern Seminary in the fall.

In Tribute To Mr. Royce Patrick Spangler Trustee Emeritus

Former trustee chairman John L. "Buck" Fraley described Pat Spangler as "the man with an educated heart. He is the most unselfish person I think I have ever met. He learned the art of living; but, mostly, he learned the art of giving."

Trustee chairman Lloyd C. Bost remembered Spangler as "the kind of person who, when he got into something, wanted to do the very best he could. He was a very competitive person, but he was always kind and considerate of other people. He was just a real fine person."

President M. Christopher White said of Mr. Spangler, "A college like Gardner-Webb is blessed with a few people who give extraordinarily of themselves and their time. If you were to take the top half-dozen people who have contributed the most since the College was founded in 1905, Pat Spangler would certainly be on that list. There's not much in terms of a leadership role that he didn't do here."

"One symbol of what Pat Spangler meant to the College was the decision of the student body to dedicate its yearbook in 1966 to him. For students to honor a trustee in this manner just doesn't happen. His impact was remarkable and students felt it."

The dedication of The Anchor of 1966 read: "To R. Patrick Spangler we dedicate this book in the hope that it portrays well that exceptional school year 1965-1966 when Gardner-Webb launched into a new era of growth and advancement. It is impossible to list his deeds, his work and his dedication to the continued progress of those things which we have come to love and which we will cherish more with passing years."

"His record of personally raising over $1,000,000 for the school and serving as National General Chairman of the campaign which has passed the $2.6 million mark will stand in history as a turning point for Gardner-Webb."

"R. Patrick Spangler has given time free and freely. His family, his business, his work in civic areas and his duties as vice chairman of the State's Conservation and Development Board must have suffered due to his devotion to the College."

"For this, and much more, we return to you our pledge to continue in life those principles you revealed to us — not only through words but also through action."

Scholarship Established To Honor The Memory Of

Martin Arthur Moseley Jr. Professor Emeritus

Professor M. A. Moseley Jr. taught chemistry at Gardner-Webb College from 1950 until 1977, when ill health forced him to retire.

Following his death on May 27, 1987, an editorial in The Shelby Star characterized Moseley as "a popular teacher. His lectures were laced with a cheerful philosophizing that enhanced rather than detracted from the lessons at hand. He cheered the hearts of students and townspeople as well with his enthusiasm and positive outlook on life . . . Moseley was one of the college's most unforgettable characters."

Family and friends of Professor Moseley have chosen to establish a scholarship fund to honor his memory. Called the Professor M. A. Moseley Jr. Endowed Scholarship, the scholarship will be funded by contributions from family, friends and students of Professor Moseley.

Former students are invited to make contributions to the scholarship and may do so by sending a designated contribution to the Development Office of Gardner-Webb College, Boiling Springs, NC 28017.

The Professor M. A. Moseley Jr. Endowed Scholarship will provide financial assistance to worthy students who are pursuing a degree in science. Preference will be given to students who plan to major in chemistry.

This scholarship will stand as a living memorial to a beloved professor whose dedication to teaching, to science and to his students left a mark on the College and the community.

The CPA Profession

. . .A Family Affair

The pressure of sitting for the CPA exam is certainly great, but imagine the added pressure felt by a mother and daughter while taking the exam side by side! That's the exact situation Diane Hartis of Elizabeth City and daughter Pam of Charlotte were up against during the November '86 CPA examination.

After working in the field of accounting for ten years, Diane Hartis decided to go back to school alongside her daughter Pam. They both enrolled at Gardner-Webb College, located in Boiling Springs, North Carolina. During their years together at Gardner-Webb, they became the first parent and child simultaneously inducted into the national honor society, Alpha Chi. The two went on to graduate at the same time, Diane with a B.S. in Accounting, and Pam with a B.S. in Mathematics. Pam later completed a B.S. in Accounting at UNC-Charlotte.

With continued support and encouragement from her husband Barry Hartis, who is also a CPA, Diane made the decision to take the CPA exam along with daughter Pam. Both mother and daughter became successful candidates following completion of the November 1986 examination.

When asked if their particular situation brought added pressure on either of them, Diane Hartis laughed and said, "It probably did, but Pam and I simply chose not to talk about it!"

Diane presently works as a staff accountant with the firm, Dorsey O. Hawkins, CPA, in Elizabeth City, while Pam is employed as a staff accountant with Coopers and Lybrand in Charlotte. Barry Hartis is the Dean of Administrative Services with the College of the Albemarle in Elizabeth City. Editor's Note: From 1976 to 1986 Hartis was vice president for business and finance at GWC.

The Hartis family has another daughter, Melissa, presently in high school. When asked if Melissa intends to make it a family

Where Are They Now?

If you have had little or no success in tracing the whereabouts of your freshman classmate—last seen in Pago Pago, or was it Topeka? — help is on the way. An alumni directory is now in the works and is scheduled for release in the fall of '88. The publication has been planned as a reference volume for those of you who wish to know where your friends are now and what they are doing.

The directory will be divided into several sections. The first will contain pictures and information about your alma mater and will be followed by a section with individual listings, which will include academic information, professional information such as job title, firm name, address and telephone, as well as home address and telephone. Alumni will also be listed geographically, by city, state and foreign country.

All the information in the directory will be researched and compiled by the Harris Publishing Company and will be obtained through questionnaires sent to all alumni and followed up by telephone verification. Your cooperation in responding to the questionnaires when they arrive will insure the success of this fascinating and comprehensive directory. All alumni will be given the opportunity to order the directory when their information is verified by phone. (Only GWC alumni will be able to purchase a copy.)

The entire project will be undertaken at virtually no cost to GWC, and the Harris Company will finance the operation through the sale of directories to alumni only. Gardner-Webb will not benefit financially from the directory sales but will derive substantial benefit from the updated records, which will be turned over to the College at the completion of the project by the Harris Company.

So, those of you who have wondered, "Where are they now?" will soon find out! Watch for specific dates in future Webs.

Making A Will That Works

Actor John Wayne helped many worthy causes during his lifetime. He intended for the wealth he left to be used to benefit his family and the causes in which he believed. However, John Wayne's $12 million estate has been tied up in probate for more than six years. Over six million dollars has been spent for death and estate taxes, and over a quarter of a million dollars has gone for probate and attorney fees. Meanwhile, his family has received nothing. At least for now, they have been accidentally disinherited.

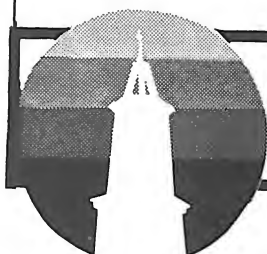

Some wills don't work well and some don't work at all. These situations occur most often with homemade, do-it-yourself wills. They can also happen with wills drawn up with the help of attorneys. Sometimes the will has become obsolete because of changes in state and federal regulations. Sometimes important considerations have been overlooked. Sometimes there are significant changes in the circumstances of family members and other beneficiaries.

The Death

It is said in the mountains that if a bird lands on the window sill, a death is sure to follow in that house.

Reflections . . . the student literary magazine

Each year the English Department of Gardner-Webb College sponsors a literary contest for all student submissions chosen for publication in Reflections. Faculty and non student submissions are not eligible for the contest. All works are judged anonymously by the Reflections staff and the final contest judges. This year's final contest judges were Dr. T. Max Linnens, Dr. James Taylor and Dr. Dennis Quinn.

You would have loved how the rains fell in April and raced through the maple leaves, falling upon the Guernsey seeking shelter.

The summer sun, falling upon the river, casting its golden hues into the dancing ripples, inspired me to think of your new home.

I saw children chasing leaves in the autumn breeze. The winds whistled in the willow's bough tonight, just as the moon began to peep through the clouds.

As I watched the snow softly gathering on the window sill, a stray swallow landed there; turning suddenly, I was with you again.
